The Nambury S. Raju Lecture Series honors the late Nambury S. Raju, former distinguished professor in Illinois Tech's industrial and organizational psychology program. Raju was an influential scholar in the area of research methodology and his impact has had a lasting effect on the field of I-O psychology. Hosted by Ron Landis, the Nambury S. Raju Professor of Psychology, the goal of the Raju lecture series is to bring to Illinois Tech's campus researchers and practitioners who are studying important phenomena using cutting-edge techniques in the area of I-O psychology.
